Who Am I?

»An inspiring and exciting read with impact.« –
Nürnberger Nachrichten, Nuremberg

From the author's preface:

›Those of you who know Max Frisch will be familiar with his questionnaires. Ever since I discovered Frisch for myself, those questionnaires have had a hold over me. For years I have carried a little black notebook with me, in which I collect questions on every imaginable subject. A selection of these questions is presented in this work.

Max Frisch was not the inventor of the questionnaire. Decades earlier (1886), Marcel Proust filled out his famous questionnaire for the first time. And this form of self-investigation and self-exposure was also a popular pastime in 19th century high society in England. But there is no doubt that Frisch turned the question into a true art form. In homage to Frisch, this work is an attempt to follow on from where he left off and, perhaps, to push the question to even greater heights.‹

Rolf Dobelli, born in Lucerne in 1966, studied philosophy and business management, worked for Swissair, founded a company and lived in Australia, Hong Kong, England and in the USA. He has published six books with Diogenes, most recently ›Massimo Marini‹, and with Carl Hanser Verlag his two non-fiction bestsellers ›The Art of Thinking Clearly‹ and ›The Art of Acting Clearly‹. Rolf Dobelli lives with his family in Berne.
