Meister Eckhart, Johannes Tauler and Heinrich Seuse: these three men are commonly referred to as the ›Mystic Triumvirate‹ which, though consisting of three very different mystics, nevertheless forms a unity. Walter Nigg describes their life and work. Using three examples of European significance, he shows that timeless religiosity which derives its power from the fact that it is not an intellectual construct but rather a profound emotional experience.

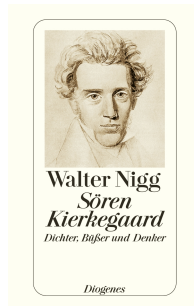

Walter Nigg (1903–1988) born in Lucerne, was appointed professor of ecclesiastical history in Zurich while working as a protestant priest at the same time. Alongside saints, religious founders, prophets and mystics, his books cover artists and poets and not least heretics, whom he understood as ›unsuccessful saints‹.
