»Clara Maria Bagus has mastered the art of healing storytelling.« – Nele Neuhaus /
(Author)

At the age of forty, Yuval finds himself living a life in which nothing is how he'd imagined it would be. He is incapable of changing anything, until he realises: it wasn't fate that brought him here, but the decisions he never made. And so he makes one — and embarks on a fateful journey that changes everything.

Clara Maria Bagus, born in 1975, studied Psychology in Constance and Stanford. She worked in the field of brain research before turning her attention to writing. Her novels The Colour of Happiness, The Sound of Light and The Imperfection of Happiness were bestsellers. Clara Maria Bagus lives in Bern with her family.
