Praise

Hours Like Days

»The blend of historic accuracy and literary storytelling is so seamless that the characters linger in the mind long after the story ends.« – Andreas Schröter / RuhrNachrichten, Dortmund

»Kupferberg's book is a moving ode to humanity in inhuman times and the story of two brave women connected to each other, even after death.« – Petra Schulte / emotion, Hamburg

»A homage to a woman who – in a time full of cruelty – doesn't let up to care for others with warmth and charity.« – Tobias Kühn / Jüdische Allgemeine, Berlin

Berlin, 1943: At Plötzensee, 20-year-old Liane Berkovitz is executed by the Nazis. Young love and her contempt for the Nazi dictatorship have made her into a resistance fighter with the Schulze-Boysen group. Decades later, an elderly woman is walking along the streets of Berlin; unkempt, with long, snow-white hair. Everyone who lives there has seen her, but barely anyone knows who she really is: a millionaire, and the first-hand witness of Liane's momentous life.

Shelly Kupferberg, born in Tel Aviv in 1974, grew up in West Berlin and studied journalism, theatre and music. She works as a journalist and presenter for Deutschlandfunk Kultur and RBB Radio3, hosting broadcasts on culture and society. Her first book Isidor was very popular with critics and public alike. Shelly Kupferberg lives with her family in Berlin.
