Jimi Hendrix Live in Lviv

Published by Diogenes as Jimi Hendrix live in Lemberg
Original title: Lwowskaja gastrol Jimi Hendrixa

In Lviv, a multi-ethnic town in Galicia, strange things are happening. And it's not to do with the aged hippies who are gathering around a mysterious grave in the cemetery by night. Nor about the former KGB-man who wants to apologise to the people he spied on. And nor is it about the fact that a young woman with an allergy to money is working in the ›bureau de change‹. And it's certainly not about the ancient Opel Vectra racing at full speed over the cobblestones to cure patients with kidney stones.

No, in Lviv, far stranger things are happening. Seagulls are circling in the sky, the air smells salty: it seems as though the town, situated far inland in the West of the Ukraine, is being haunted by the sea ...

In Andrej Kurkow's Lviv, miracles can happen in every little side street and on every street corner. And that's all down to the power of love, the boundless imagination of a writer – and the immortal music of Jimi Hendrix.

Praise

Jimi Hendrix Live in Lviv

»Andrej Kurkow's latest coup is vodka-based magic realism, peopled with true Kurkowan protagonists - bizarre and slightly melancholic.« – Oliver Jungen / Cicero - Literaturen, Berlin

»An ironic lightness of touch, black humour and an intuitive grasp of the pragmatism of ordinary people forced to live through difficult times – these have always been the hallmarks of Andrej Kurkow's prose.« – Gregor Ziolkowski / Deutschlandradio Kultur, Berlin

»Besides that, the architecture of the novel comes with echos of the post-modernism that is en vogue in Russian language literature today, peppered with remembrances of atmospheres of Bulgakov and The Master and Margarita.« – Wlodek Goldkorn / La Repubblica, Turin

Andrej Kurkow

»Andrej Kurkow is a master of grotesque humour.« – Brigitte, Hamburg

»With Kurkow, one is guaranteed entertainment of the highest order.« – Wiener Zeitung

»Andrej Kurkows knows how to make a story entertaining and amusing.« – Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung

»Kurkov writes short, sly, page-turners that specialize in what we might call absurdist noir.« – John Powers / NPR's Fresh Air, Washington D.C.

»Armed with the hilarious animal metaphors that populate his books, Kurkov depicts a humorous and scathing satire of the post-Soviet world, and of a Ukrainian society rediscovering itself, independent and riven by mafia, chaos and corruption.« – Laurent Rigoulet / La Chronique, Brussels

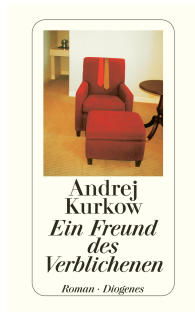

»Kurkov's style is spare and effective, drawing us with deception ease into a dense, complex world full of wonderful characters.« – Michael Palin / (author)

»A latter-day Bulgakov [. . .] A Ukrainian Murakami.« – Phoebe Taplin / The Guardian, London

Praise (cont'd)

»A kind of Ukrainian Kurt Vonnegut.« – Ian Sansom / The Spectator, London

»Andrey Kurkov connects the absurd with the ordinary, the comic with the sordid.« – Isabelle Mandraud / Le Monde, Paris

»He works with such imaginative power, which nothing seems to be able to quench, with a humorous and tender tone, with protagonists who don't have their fate in their hands, yet are saved by goodness and kindness.« – Alain Guillemoles / La Croix, Montrouge

»His prose marked by humour and a contagious humanity evokes magical realism and the absurd.« – Jorge Ferrer / El Mundo, Madrid

»Andrey Kurkov's writing style moves between the unexpected, the beautiful and the hilarious — a tone that permits him to tell a tragedy without renouncing the paradox and the satire.« – Karina Sainz Borgo / ABC, Madrid

»It is no surprise that Kurkov began his literary career as a joke writer during the Soviet era. His humour is sharp and precise, but never cynical. As long as there is laughter, there is also hope, even within a rotten system.« – Tommi Melender / Helsingin Sanomat, Helsinki
