»Philosophizing is the reconciliation of a revelation that never took place. The path to it is full of astute human wisdom«, relates Marcuse in his »History of Philosophy« in which he makes his readers aware of the »great harvest of thought«.

Ludwig Marcuse (1894 – 1971) was born in Berlin. Immediately after the Reichstag fire he emigrated first to France, then to the USA, became a US citizen in 1944. After years of destitution he became professor for philosophy and German literature at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles. As a brilliant stylist he suffered the fate of Schopenhauer and Nietzsche: Philosophers saw him as a writer, and writers considered him to be a philosopher. After becoming an emeritus professor, he returned to Germany in 1963.
